

Call Bond Issue of $275,000.00 Chaffey Union High School District

To Build a Greater Chaffey Union High School and Junior College of Agriculture to be Submitted to Voters.

With an increase in enrollment from 301 in 1911 to 850 in 1920, Chaffey Union High School has outgrown its equipment and if Chaffey is to keep abreast of the times and be able to care for the educational needs of this community during the next ten years, new buildings and equipment must be added to the present plant.

Thus is the status of educational conditions with Chaffey as placed before the committee of 100 called into conference by the board of trustees of Chaffey Union High School, last Friday night.

The facts and figures on conditions as they exist together with plans if a bond issue of $250,000 were voted, were presented to the men and women present, by the board of trustees, in the following form:

District	Average Daily Attendance	School Budget	Unit Probable
Chaffey (Day and Even.)	716	110,000	153.63
Covina	200	64,000	320
Fullerton	500	181,000	362
Glendale	674	109,599	162.60
Inglewood	340	98,000	273.53
Monrovia	275	44,000	160
Redlands	500	170,000*
Redondo Beach	270	56,000	207.41
San Bernardino (Day only)	687	96,000	140
Santa Monica	500	136,800	272
Whittier	480	65,000	135.42

*Including elementary schools

Ontario	106,500

The number of students attending Chaffey from the various districts has been as follows:

Alta Loma	31
Central and Cucamonga	46
Etiwanda	23
Mountain View	10
Piedmont	3
Upland	202
Ontario	448
Other districts	40

Service men from all parts of the United States.

This year's budget of $110,000 will have been spent about as follows:

Salaries to all employees	$85,000
Equipment and repairs	10,000
Other betterments	5,000
General operation, including supplies for all departments	10,000

Chaffey today stands pre-eminently in a class by itself when it comes to educational activities, for it leads the high schools of the state and is recognized by state educational authorities as the one high school doing a real service in the community in which it is located.

The question before the board of trustees of the school was one which they did not feel should be decided by them and therefore called in the committee of 100 to help them decide as to whether a bond issue should be called for.

The needs of the school were presented by Clerk Mills, while President Harwood, Principal Merton E. Hill and Messrs. Nisbet, and Berg covered different points on the equipment of the school and instructors. Blakeslee of the music department, Weldon of the deciduous department, Booth of the citrus department, presented the conditions in the different departments and their needs.

Following the presentation of conditions as they exist at Chaffey today, J. O. Mills stated that the board did not feel equal to deciding what should be done and called on those present to tell what they thought about it and asked that no one hesitate to throw cold water on the plan if that was the way they felt about it.

Evidently no one was present with buckets of cold water, for Chester Johns, of Cucamonga, wanted to proceed with the plan as outlined. Messrs. L. F. Lucas, of Cucamonga, Benton Ballou, of Ontario, and E. H. Richardson, of Ontario, were with Mr. Johns, but believed that with conditions as they are in building material lines, an additional $25,000 should be added to the issue to care for unexpected developments which are bound to occur in work of this sort. Others who spoke in favor of the bonds were Messrs. H. E. Swan, W. A. Freeman, F. C. Bell of Ontario; Mayor A. H. Johnson of Upland; J. C. Jones of Etiwanda.

When the final vote was taken it was unanimous to the effect that the board proceed to call a bond election of $275,000 and each one present pledged support for the bonds.

A main feature of the program was the roast pig dinner served by Chaffey students and although in days gone by men and women never waxed enthusiastic over the cooking of young ladies of high school age, Chaffey students prepared and served a dinner Friday night which was in a class by itself for superiority, and the roast pig supplied by Mr. Wilson of the Italian Vineyard Company was the main feature of the dinner.

Along with the dinner came a musical program, Fred Wilding's high school orchestra doing itself proud in the rendition of a varied program of classical music. Mr. Blakeslee of the music department presented Miss Geneva Moremen and Mr. Fredrick Trunkfield in vocal numbers and each sang to the delight of the banqueters.

SERGT. ARTHUR COHRAN TARGET FOR PISTOL SHOT

That an unknown man in an automobile truck fired once with a revolver at him five miles east of Etiwanda at 1:25 yesterday afternoon, was last night reported by Sergeant Arthur Cohran of the United States army recruiting office in San Bernardino. Private Naley was with Cohran and they were riding in an army motorcycle side car. They were bound westward and the truck was going east. Just as they passed the truck, said Cohran, one of the men pulled a revolver and shot at him. The bullet missed the motorcycle by about two feet. The two army men thought the odds too uneven for them to turn and give chase to secure the number of the truck and stopped the first eastbound automobile they met. The driver of this machine agreed to speed up and get the number and report it to the recruiting station. The information, however, had not been received last night.

MONROE SURPRISES 'EM IN TRAP SHOOT

A number of people witnessed the shooting at Lone Hill Gun Club last Sunday when the local sharks contended for the Everding and Amos Allen Trophies. Twenty-one participated in the events, and the winners were Jesse Monroe first in both; G. Peterson and Mr. Gilbert second and third in the Everding and Ed Mahoney second in the Allen Trophy. FIVE COUPLES GIVE RELEASE FROM MATRIMONY Five divorce decrees were granted yesterday by Judge J. W. Curtis with the calling of the default calendar. The following divorces were granted: Elizabeth Swanson from Lieut. Ernest A. Swanson, on a charge of cruelty. Attorneys McNabb & Hodge represented the plaintiff.

Marie Johnson from Emmett Johnson, on a charge of desertion and failure to provide. Attorney John L. Campbell represented the plaintiff.

Esther Torpey from Wilfred Torpey on a charge of failure to provide. Attorney A. S. Maloney represented the plaintiff.

Billie M. Ferguson from Murney Ferguson, on a charge of intoxication. Attorney A. D. Mitchell represented the plaintiff.

H. F. Carter from Allie F. Carter, on a charge of desertion. Attorney U. F. Lewis represented the plaintiff.

ELECTION OF APRIL 12 PROMISES MANY INTERESTING FEATURES FOR VOTERS

The city election campaign is on in full swing, the only contest for the voters being the selection of councilmen. Two councilmen are to be named and three men have their hats in the ring resting there until the voters decide as to who's who in this man's town.

When the town was formed many years ago there was a gentlemen's agreement by which one representative was to come from the residential section of the city, the other three to represent the ranching interests. A. B. Whitney comes from the San Antonio avenue district, F. C. Buffington from the North Euclid district and W. B. Cavers from the Eleventh street district. The terms of Mr. Buffington and Mr. Cavers expire in April and both gentlemen are candidates for re-election.

Mr. Buffington has no opposition in the coming election, but friends and neighbors of William Springer, who lives in Councilman Cavers' district, persuaded him to enter the race for the council.

According to talk on the streets, the main objection to Councilman Cavers' administration has been his handling of city finances. In the early days of the city's history a hit or miss plan of appropriations was followed, until finally the city's financial condition was anything but creditable for when the returns were paid to the city treasurer, the city owed the local banks so much money there was very little left when a settlement was made, the result being that the most of the year the city finances sailed along in the "red."

As the town grew and new timber was elected to the city council, new methods were adopted and a budget system established. By using this method the town was gradually brought from a financial cloud and placed on a firm financial footing.

Councilman Cavers as head of the finance committee has not followed the budget system, but practicing the hit or miss system of expenditures. It being followed, and those familiar with city business state that it will only be a matter of time until Upland once again enjoys the status of being financially embarrassed the most of the year.

The decision of who will be on the city council is up to the voters and that the contest between Messrs. Springer and Cavers will be a decidedly spirited one is very evident.

Another of the main issues before the voters on election day is whether or not permission will be granted to levy an additional 25c per $100 valuation in taxes. Cities of the 6th class are allowed by law to assess but one dollar unless permission is granted by voters in addition to that sum. With the gradual increase of the cost of things in general, together with the necessity of increasing salaries to city officials necessitated by the general rise in the cost of living, the present income of the city will not meet the expense and unless this additional tax is allowed by the voters, the financial condition of the city is bound to be decidedly weak before many months pass by.

ONTARIO TO STAGE A GREAT JOY-DAY

By way of bidding the Portland Beavers a fond farewell Ontario is to hold a half-day holiday Thursday afternoon and evening. In the afternoon there is to be a baseball game between the Beavers and the Stahl & Dean team of Los Angeles, while in the evening a street dance is to be the main feature of entertainment.

First Appearance
The Ontario Municipal Band, under the direction of Fred Wilding, Jr., will make its first appearance and will furnish music for the big dance, and a fine large afternoon and evening is the outlook for those who enjoy baseball and dancing, as well as those who desire to hear a first class band.

SPECIAL EASTER MUSIC

There will be a special Easter concert by the Presbyterian choir and soloists next Sunday evening at 7:30. An appropriate and beautiful program is being prepared. Full announcement will be made in the next issue of the News.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL PUPILS DELIGHT A LARGE AUDIENCE WITH PROGRAM

The entertainment given last Friday evening at the grammar school was one of the prettiest ever witnessed here. "A Trip to Fairyland" was the title and it certainly was true to its name. The auditorium was full and the enthusiastic applause greeting every number on the program testified to the enjoyment of the audience.

Part One consisted of ten children's garden, which after they had planted the seeds, they left to the care of the Scarecrow assisted by the Rain Drop and Sunshine fairies. The seeds quickly grew into lovely flowers and being happy and contented pass the time away in song. The costumes were very pretty and the vari-colored lights which played on the small singers added to the realistic idea of the flowers being alive.

Part Two was a program of songs by the Boys' Glee Club and the Girls' Glee Club, and was very much enjoyed. This was the first public appearance of the glee clubs and also of the Grammar School Orchestra which played during the evening under the leadership of Professor Wilding. The duet by Willard Perkins and Paul Harwood and two solos by Paul Harwood were very good, and the kindergarten band was clapped in a most appreciative manner, the solemn way in which the leader directed her small charges being a most amusing piece of the affair.

"The Legend of the Beautiful Cloth" the words of which were written by Miss Winifred Moore, was played entirely by girls and was a most artistic production, the fanciful idea of making the flag out of the lily of purity, the rose of patriotism and the forget-me-not of unselfish love being received by the audience with a keen appreciation of the true sentiment behind the fairy play.

The thanks of the school authorities are due to Mr. Glenn D. Smith of the Ontario Power Company for his kindness in attending to the electricity for the spotlights which were managed by Mr. Theodore Allison and Mr. Malcolm McLeod to such advantage, and to Mr. Harold Stienkey whose help was of great value.

The decorations were done by Miss Gladys Riley and Miss Brown and were much admired, as were the costumes of all the participants in the plays, the designing of which was by Miss Lela McClelland. Every teacher in the school had something to do with the success of the entertainment, but the work of Miss Moyer and Mrs. Williams in the drilling and coaching of the children and of Miss Hanson who was stage manager, deserves special mention.

It may be of general interest to the public to know that the proceeds of the entertainment will go towards the playground equipment and that plans are under consideration for having the school playgrounds open during the entire summer holidays for the benefit of the children of the city. A capable supervisor will be employed and Chaffey has offered to help when the summer comes. The thought has often been expressed that Old Baldy looks over this colony like a guardian angel, but some one said recently that Chaffey had taken the mountain's place and that "When in doubt turn to Chaffey" should be the motto of this part of the valley.

CHINO WINS BIG SCOUT RELAY RACE SATURDAY

The big Scout relay race from Chino to Ontario resulted in a victory for Chino. The message was delivered in Ontario just 29½ minutes after it was started in Chino. The Upland troop was unable to enter on account of sickness. However the Upland Scouts did their good turn by filling up the ranks of the Ontario troops.

The Ontario troops wish to express their appreciation for this good turn. The Upland Scouts who took part were Don Towler, Culver Smallwood, Tom Craig, Frank Eaton, Almon Allen, Kenneth Sikes, Paul Moore, Philip Leahy and Elmer Allen.

"THE BRAND," GREATEST OF ALL REX BEACH THRILLERS, COMING HERE

The famous author's powerful story of Alaska brilliantly pictured for his newest Goldwyn production, will be shown at the Colonial Theatre Wednesday and Thursday. The genius of Rex Beach never was more compellingly demonstrated than in the newest of his famous books to find pictorialization on the screen. It is "The Brand," widely known because of the thrilling nature of the story, its superb character drawing and the popularity of the locale, Alaska—always fertile ground to Rex Beach.

Fire of Unknown Origin Burns Parsons Home

Produced for Goldwyn and following closely on the success of "Laughing Bill Hyde" and "Too Fat to Fight," "The Brand" comes when interest in the Rex Beach productions is at its height. It is confidently predicted that "The Brand" will exceed both in popular appeal.

The story is one of great power and appeal. It is drama from the first scene. It grips and thrills as the four principal characters begin to weave their net of love, hate, passion and rebellion, and does not end until the very last scene, when occurs a climax of such terrific power that the spectators can only wonder how Rex Beach conceived anything so extraordinary.

Magnificent Alaska scenes are shown, with raging blizzards, chasms of ice and frozen rivers. Again Rex Beach does not star a player, preferring to use the best talent obtainable for a brilliant, perfectly balanced cast.

DANCE ORDINANCE HAS FINAL READING

The main feature before the city council at the special meeting last night was the final passage on the dance ordinance.

Delegations were conspicuous by their absence, only the regulars and three or four others with business of minor detail were present. The ordinance as per discussion at the meeting held the previous week, was duly passed and News readers will find it in another column of this issue.

Steps are now under way to straighten out another one of the many tangles in that section of the city north of Eleventh and between Third avenue and Campus. When originally laid out, it was mainly by leaps and bounds that property was bought and sold. Residents there desiring gas service and other city advantages are anxious to get Fourth avenue established that gas mains may be installed. Messrs. Chowning and Perkins appeared before the council and indications are that proceedings for the acceptance of the street will soon be under way.

Proceedings for the abandonment of an alley through the land owned by the Upland Foundry were set in motion last night. The foundry building is up and sidetrack will soon be in from the main line of the Santa Fe.

CHAFFEY STUDENTS AWARDED HONORS

The annual Declamation and Glee Club Contest of the Citrus Belt League, consisting of Chaffey Union, Redlands, Riverside, and San Bernardino High Schools, was held at Poly High at Riverside Saturday evening, March 27th.

The Chaffey Boys' Club and the Girls' Club each won first place, bringing home the coveted silver trophy, while Mr. Baer won the declamation for Chaffey. It was a clean sweep for the home school.

ALL ILLINOISANS ARE CALLED TO GREAT REUNION

All who ever lived in Illinois are called to meet for a great picnic reunion, all day, Saturday, April 10th, 1920, in Sycamore Grove Park, Los Angeles. Come as early as you can and spend the day with friends. We will have county registers and headquarters, so you can find the old neighbors even with ten thousand present.

There will be a brief program, opening about two o'clock, but the main purpose will be to have a good time.

We want to see all the tourists and visitors from the old home state. Bring your baskets well filled, also cups and spoons. Coffee will be served free to all who buy the souvenir badges. Each one who learns of this picnic is asked to pass the word along.

FURNISHINGS ARE TOTALLY DESTROYED

A fire of unknown origin but disastrous consequences occurred this morning about 10:30 at the home of Mr. William Parsons on Ninth avenue near Tenth street. Mrs. Parsons was outside when she suddenly saw the flames burst from the door and found herself unable to enter the house. There was no gasoline stove and a sewing machine being two of the most valuable articles lost.

The fire boys were on the spot with their usual quickness but it was impossible to save the frame house which is practically a wreck. No furniture was saved except a small table, a handsome Victrola and a sewing machine being two of the most valuable articles lost.

Mr. Parsons, who only arrived in Upland from Sacramento a few weeks ago and has had sickness in his family ever since he came, rented the house from Mr. John Underwood who formerly lived there and it is understood there is no insurance on either the building or furniture.

PART TIME EDUCATION IN CALIFORNIA

The last state legislature enacted a part time education act that will go into effect next September. It requires the high schools of California to provide instruction for boys and girls of from sixteen to eighteen years of age who are not in regular attendance at any public or private school. These young people are required to attend classes for a minimum of four hours a week for thirty-six weeks.

To meet the new law, and to be able to administer the various features of the law in the most economical way from the standpoint of both time and place, a class has been formed of teachers of the grammar schools to study part time education. This class consists of representatives of the eight districts of the Chaffey district. They meet afternoons from 3:30 to 5:30. The course is given by Merton E. Hill as an Extension Course of the University of California. The educational conditions of each community are being studied.

The following teachers are enrolled in the course:

Mr. F. E. Chaffee, Chaffey.
Mrs. Nellie Miles, Chaffey.
Mrs. Ruth Miller, Chaffey.
Mr. Horace Moore, Chaffey.
Mrs. H. W. Hawkinston, Chaffey.
Miss Vina Danks, Ontario.
Mrs. Torrey Abbott, Ontario.
Mrs. Frances Allen, Upland.
Miss Viola Byers, Central, Cucamonga.

Miss Mary-Stuart Fox, Alta Loma.
Miss Faye Fuller, Ontario.
Mrs. Rena B. Francis, Etiwanda.
Mr. M. A. Gauer, Ontario.
Miss Grace Stemon, Ontario.
Miss Ella May Tipton, Upland.
Mrs. Sylvia Williams, Upland.
Miss Nellie Randall, Upland.
Miss Marie Greenleaf, Ontario.
Miss Elizabeth Griggs, Alta Loma.
Miss Naomi Hawkey, Upland.
Miss Sabra Hayden, Ontario.
Miss Ruth Lundeen, Central, Cucamonga.

Miss Mary McCord, Cucamonga.
Miss Harriet Riley, Upland.
Mrs. Mary B. Smith, Mountain View, Piedmont.
Miss Clara Taverner, Cucamonga.
Miss Ruth Moyer, Upland.
Miss Esther Krehbiel, Upland.
Miss May Farnum, Mountain View.
Mrs. Edith Troeller, Upland.
Mrs. Mary Noonan, Ontario.
Miss Sarah Farnum, Piedmont.
Miss Mary Carrey, Upland.

IN THE SHADOW

Little Bruce Warner, aged seven years and seven months, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben F. Warner, of Ontario, died last Sunday night at the San Antonio Hospital following an operation for mastoid. The funeral was held this afternoon at two o'clock from Draper's chapel, the minister of the Ontario-Methodist church reading the service. Interment will be in Bellevue cemetery. Mr. Warner, who is city attorney for Ontario, and his wife have lived here many years and have warm friends both in their home town and in Upland, who extend their deepest sympathy to them at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Norton, accompanied by Betty Reynolds and Lois Kent, are spending today in the city.

Caught on the First Bounce

By S. M. GREENE

Pasadena has a bell hop who edits the hotel magazine. He is proud of his ability as a writer, but lives off his ability as a bell hop.

A Minneapolis man arrived in Los Angeles the other day and the next day was struck by an auto and went to the hospital for several weeks. One editor remarked that it was unnecessary to treat the man so roughly as he intended to stay here some time anyway.

Mayor Snyder is urging a state law that will prohibit the carrying of concealed weapons other than peace officers. Will that mean that ladies must not wear invisible hats any more? And that vamps must not cover their faces with paint?

Pasadena cleared $1000 from the sale of her garbage last month. That is what might be called filthy lucre.

Jose Dalo and his landlady at Santa Ana got into an argument over the payment of his rent, and she shot him three times, and then he took the gun away from her and shot her through the stomach. Aside from that the argument was quiet and peaceful.

Shaverettes are to be established in Los Angeles. You furnish the beard and the face and they furnish the soap, the razor and the towel. They can also keep a gramophone going to take the place of the barber's gab, but we are still troubled about one thing: what will take the place of the barber's onion breath?

Miss Sparks was married at Paso Robles the other day. Contrary to her name, it is said that she never missed one.

A tree peddler at Santa Ana was fined $200 for misrepresenting the kinds of trees he was selling. He might have been only demonstrating a new kind of tree grafting.

Mr. Shove, of Kansas, visited in Orange last week. If he should meet Mr. Crowl, who registered at an El Centro hotel recently, they both might have to hunt up Mr. Gitt of Los Angeles, who was at Redondo for a few days.

A state senator from Martinez says he is going to introduce a bill at the next session of the California legislature to stop the outja board craze. Might as well pass a law prohibiting people from going insane.

The papers hereabouts are carrying the usual scare items that seed potatoes are very scarce this spring. And as usual, as soon as the prices of potatoes get high enough to suit the profiteers (if the women's clubs don't spoil the scheme by their boycott to bring down the prices), there will be plenty of potatoes appear on the market and open their little eyes to see which suckers got them.

Editor Harry Iles of the Southwest Contractor and Builder gets an editorial laugh out of the claim of the city water commissioner at San Diego, that the large numbers of fishes in the city reservoir there take up room that should be occupied by water, and also that each medium sized fish consumes a pint or more of water per day. This presents a new problem of conduct in raising fish in reservoirs. The San Diego commissioner urges that the citizens go fishing as often as possible, so as to make more room in the reservoir for water. We are afraid that even though fish may consume a pint of water each day, if each citizen of San Diego were to catch at least one fish each day, the reservoir might not be able to see the pint.

It begins to look as if it simply can't be done. We had hoped that when Charlie Chaplin got married, we would at last have a marriage among movie stars that would stick. But the paint seems to have washed off their romance, or the scenery didn't change fast enough to suit them, or something else clogged the film, for they seem to be on the point of breaking. So we are about to come to the conclusion that there ain't no such thing as honest-to-goodness old-fashioned love left after the films have had a few years' whack at any one.

A leaking water main caused a big auto to settle in the middle of a street at Monrovia the other day. The city settled later.

Add to the things we didn't think could be done: A jury convicted a United States Senator of trying to buy his way into the senate and he was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary. Also add to the things we don't believe will be done: He hasn't begun to serve his sentence yet.

Here's a new item with a familiar smell: A housewife at Pasadena forgot to turn out the gas under a roast she had on the stove, when she went down town, and the burning roast filled the house with smoke and called the fire department.

In the church census at Santa Ana out of 8722 people listed, 8849 expressed church preferences. That did not mean, however, that they belonged to churches or aided in any way in church work. It merely meant with most of them that the denomination they named as their choice was the kind of a preacher they preferred to officiate at their funeral.

Redondo has found that it cannot enforce the ordinance closing all stores on Sunday, because a few merchants defied it and the city authorities did not have nerve enough to punish them so the ordinance has been repealed. Reminds us of the man who ordered his dog to go outdoors, and when it slunk under the table instead, he yelled, "All right, go under the table then. I'm bound to have you obey me."

A man who jumped his board bill at the U. S. Grant Hotel at San Diego, was registered from Glendale, which made Glendale sore, because he wasn't from there at all.

Hollywood High School has added a printing press to its curriculum equipment, and will now see what kind of an impression it makes.

A rancher near Chino cut down a tree that fell on a high voltage wire and broke it, which fell on a barbed wire and electrified it, which touched a cow and electrocuted her, which shocked the owner, but not so badly that he sold her to the butcher for beef. The Ontario Report wonders if pre-cooked beef and boiled milk will soon be on sale at that butcher shop.

The authorities at Leland Stanford University want the society houses abolished and girls' dormitories substituted, to promote a democratic spirit and prevent snobbishness among the girls. The idea may be good, but closing society houses won't stop snobs from snobbing. Snobs are born, not made by surroundings.

There are so many reunions of state and county and town societies by former residents from back east that one man in Altadena got lonesome and tried to find enough other people from his home town, "Woodsett, Merrimack county, New Hampshire," to hold a reunion and picnic. But he couldn't find a single one, so he got up a reunion and picnic all by himself, with no one else to reunite with or to help eat the provender. And he reports that he had a splendid time.

Rev. O'Rear of Santa Ana was arrested and fined for speeding in his auto. He apparently was trying to get ahead of his name.

The Pomona College freshmen cut a wide swath on the mountain side to make the college's letter "P" shine more brightly and then cut a still wider swath in a mountain of clouds that the college girls had prepared for them as a reward for their labor.

"Spub" is a new word that we want to coin. It means "Society for the Prevention of Useless Buying" and is modeled after Roosevelt's famous society for the Prevention of Useless Giving at Christmas time. We believe that as soon as people quit buying things that they don't really need, prices will begin to come down. Try being a Spub for a month or two and see if it won't help.

The only editorial in the Santa Paula Chronicle last week was one stating that on account of more important matters, the editorials had to be omitted. And even the editor himself admitted that it was quite an improvement.

Another chance to make ten dollars. The community north of Corona is offering ten dollars for a name. As it is just above Corona, it might be called "Halo."

The Pacific Electric has always intended to build a double track at the west end of its Arroyo Seco bridge near the ostrich farm, for fear there might be a collision of its cars some time. Last week the long-expected collision came, and now the double track is to be built. That was all the P. E. was waiting for. It just wanted to be sure there was danger of a collision.

"Edith Carter is Sold to Brandeis," was a scare head in the Hemet News last week, and we were afraid for a minute that Hemet had begun to auction off her girls perhaps because of the high cost of living. We were just beginning to hope that Edith would be treated kindly, and that when she grew up the son of the house would run away with her if she turned out to be beautiful, but on reading further down we found that if any running away was done, it would probably be by Edith as she was only a racing mare.

We see no need of the Speedway near Los Angeles to furnish dangerous auto thrills and fatal accidents for the delectation of the multitude. The auto traffic on the streets of Los Angeles is just as dangerous as any speedway, and spectators who enjoy seeing people maimed or killed if they are not fortunate enough to jump for their lives in time, can do so by standing on the sidewalks of the downtown streets. And the performance is absolutely free, and goes on every day. Why pay money for what you can see for nothing?

Several thousand dollars' worth of the valuables stolen from guests at a Paso Robles hotel by the night clerk recently, belonging to a bride and groom on their wedding trip, and consisted of wedding gifts. Think of one wedding drawing several thousand dollars' worth of gifts, and doubtless not a wedding of the first water at that. No wonder one old chap remarked that they ought to change the wording of wedding invitations from "Your presence is requested," to "Your presents are requested."

UPLAND BECOMES FAMOUS

Upland is becoming famous and in the recent California issue of that famous magazine, Life, Upland appears in a "Reverie" by Hervey Allen. The foundation of the "Reverie" is evidently some relation to Kipling's "On the Road to Mandalay." Readers will find Allen's selection in full, following:

REVERIE

After dinner when I'm sitting,
And the freighted wavers, flitting Like the shadows on the bottom of the sea,
When the winter winds go rumbling
And the chimney throat is grumbling, There's a dream, a reverie, that comes to me.

The beach at Coronado is awash with summer seas,
And the orange trees are blooming Round about Los Angeles;

I can smell the eucalyptus
And the peppers in their prime With their berries red as holly is At merry Christmas time.

In the bleakest of December,
As in June-time you may go Into orchards I remember,
Where the only snow they know
Is the blossom petals' drifting
Through the warm, delicious breeze
And the bees make orange honey Spiced like mellow nectar lees.

Comes a great, a keen nostalgia
That my dreams will not appease
For the winds of California,
Like the gales of Celebes,
And I hear the grapefruit flopping;
I can see those yellow globes Fall like golden beads a-dropping
From some genial giant's robes.
I can see blue evening falling
In the dry-land's sapphire gloom,
Hear the lone coyote calling
To his brother, while the moon
Turns the inland mountains amber,
And the night to ivory day
Over Santa Catalina,
Grandly sailing Nippon way.

L'Envoi

Take me somewhere west of Denver
Where a man can quench a thirst!
Where the grapevines still are growing.

Though the law has done it worst,
Where the winter turns to summer
As the tourist hurtles through Green Pomona, hard by Upland,
On the road to "San Berdo."

—Hervey Allen.

HIGHWAY COMMISSION REPLIES TO CHARGES

General charge of waste of highway funds made in a letter to Governor William D. Stephens by W. R. Ellis, former secretary of the Highway Commission, brought from the commission Wednesday, says a Sacramento dispatch, the following statement:

"The California Highway Commission has nothing to apprehend from any disclosures that W. R. Ellis, our former secretary, makes.

"The transactions of the commission are a matter of public record and its policies have been repeatedly announced.

"As far as the commission is concerned, the matter rests here.

A routine meeting of the Highway Commission was held Wednesday. All the members were in attendance. They are: N. D. Darlington, Los Angeles; Charles A. Whitmore, Visalia, and George C. Mansfield, Oroville.

Beyond the formal statement the commissioners declined to comment. At the office of Governor Stephens it was announced that until specific charges were made by Ellis there was nothing on which any action by the governor might be based.

TWENTY CHURCHES IN CONFERENCE IN SAN BERNARDINO

Delegates from the twenty Congregational churches in San Bernardino and Riverside counties were represented to the number of 125 Wednesday evening at a meeting held in the First church of San Bernardino. The occasion was a get-together meeting for the specific purpose of presenting the emergency fund and work of Congregational churches to be undertaken this year.

Dr. Henry A. Atkinson, secretary of the New York offices of the denomination, presented the responsibilities of churches at the present time, and much must be done, he said, in rehabilitation work following the war.

Dr. George F. Kengott of Los Angeles, superintendent of Congregational churches of Southern California, presented the call for the emergency fund of $3,000,000, which will be used to extend the work of the Congregational churches in 1920, both at home and abroad.

As a delightful interruption to the more serious side of the meeting was the music given by the trio.

A number of the visiting pastors spoke for two minutes each on the subject of the emergency fund, those talking being: Dr. George Laughton of Riverside, Rev. C. W. Greenlee of Elwanda, Rev. F. C. Dell of Highland, Rev. H. C. Ide of Redlands, Rev. H. V. Ellis of Bloomington, and Rev. R. R. Morson of Hemet. James Russell, president of the Men's Company of the church, presided at the meeting, Rev. H. B. Mowbray being one of the moving spirits of the occasion in the background.

Delegates and members of the home church met in Pilgrim hall at 6 o'clock and sat down to one of the most elaborate dinners ever provided by members of the Woman's Union.

PLEASE OBSERVE THAT GLEN ROCK, THE PURE BRED TOGGENBURG BUCK has moved to 20th and Wilson, 1 block west of Mountain. His phone number is 230-W-5. Chester C. Clewett, 6114

INNOCENT GIRL CAUSE OF ARREST OF FATHER

Little innocent Margaret King, six years old, lapsed:

"My papa carries home all kinds of things at night. We have lots of things to keep house with now since he wraps a rag around the wheelbarrow."

And yesterday J. S. King, the "papa" and his companion, A. J. Hunt were in the county jail, charged by Sheriff W. A. Shay with having stripped the Gray and Stafford homes at Alta Loma of hundreds of dollars worth of furnishings and silverware.

For days Sheriff Shay had been looking for the two men. They suddenly departed from Alta Loma about two weeks ago, since a residence there dating back to November 12, 1919.

The sheriff learned that the two men arranged with a Long Beach transfer company to haul away some articles. A watch was maintained. Constable Walter Hirst of Cucamonga telephoned yesterday afternoon that the wanted men had arrived with the express truck. With Joe Wilson and Sam Myers, the Cucamonga constable hurried to the house. Sheriff W. A. Shay, Under Sheriff T. O. Carter and Deputy Sheriff R. A. Bright hurried to the scene. The two men had been taken into custody by the Cucamonga officers as they were loading the truck. In a trunk was much of the loot from the two homes.

It is alleged that rags were wrapped about the wheel of the wheelbarrow to prevent trace of marks leading to the house occupied by King and Hunt. The two men were woodchoppers and they came to Alta Loma from San Diego.

More shabby, surface worn furniture is discarded each year than is destroyed by fire.

You insure your furniture against fire. Is it insured against wear? A good piece of furniture will last a lifetime if its surface is properly protected.

Once a desk, chair or table loses its newness—begins to look shabby—it travels a fast road to the junk heap. Renew its surface with Acme Quality Varno-Lac and you renew its life. You've saved the price of a desk, chair or table, and enhanced the appearance of your home. By saving the surface you save all.

Acme Quality Varno-Lac stains and varnishes at one operation, producing handsome imitations of expensive hardwoods. Good for floors, furniture and woodwork.

Twyla and Bobby Osborn left yesterday to spend part of their holidays with their father in Los Angeles.

Willard Griffith, son of Mrs. C. V. Calhoun, is home from Stanford for the Easter holidays. He leaves today for Santa Monica where he will visit for several days.

Several people from Tulare, Hemet and Los Angeles attended the services at the Brethren in Christ church Sunday, many of them staying over the week-end with friends in the neighborhood.

You can't mistake the place now. If you want to buy some delicious home-made candy for Easter Mrs. Margaret Osborn has it for you and her name is newly painted on the window of the Stage line office.

Dr. Stephen Craig of Los Angeles is spending a few days here with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Wm. Craig.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Johnson have their daughter Frances with them for the Easter holidays. Miss Frances is a student at the Normal School at Santa Barbara.

Dr. Roy F. Ruth accompanied by his sister, Miss Meta Ruth, and Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Schowalter, motored to Los Angeles yesterday. Dr. Ruth will remain in Hollywood where he has started to practice as a physician, but the others will return to Upland after a few days' visit in the city.

Miss Mary Rowland who has been the guest of Miss Morley for some time, has left for Santa Ana where she will be for the next two weeks, making her final plans for her permanent residence in Upland. Miss Rowland has purchased the C. P. Fuller home on Washington boulevard, and we welcome her heartily among us.

In spite of dire predictions, March has turned out to be a favorably wet month, the total rainfall being 6.33 inches, which brings the amount for the season to 23.13. This is nine inches more than last year and five more than 1917 and 1918 seasons. With the heavy fall of snow in all the surrounding mountains the fear of a dry summer is practically over.

The Ladies' Home Missionary Society will have an all-day session next Friday at the Methodist church, when the time will be spent in sewing for the different homes in the district. Every lady of the church is invited and interesting short talks on the nature of the work being done will be part of the program. Every one bring a box luncheon and hot drinks will be served by a committee.

Miss Ruth Hickson spent last Saturday in San Bernardino on a shopping expedition.

The grammar school orchestra made its first appearance last Friday night before an appreciative audience. The good time kept and the perfection of each musician speaks well for the performers and their leader.

E. W. Close of Lindsay who came here last week to try and purchase G. B. Bower's interests in the Porterville district, has succeeded in buying 160 acres of farming land from Mr. Bower, for a reported consideration of $5000.

Loebis and Nagle of Ontario have just sold to Ed Wanamaker one of their Cletrac tractors, which Mr. Wanamaker is very pleased with. He intends to equip it with electric lights and work both day and night with it. A demonstration of this wonderful model tractor will be given on request.

A merry motor party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Ketcheson, Mrs. J. F. Haddow and Miss Ella Haddow drove to Santa Barbara last week to be present at the graduation exercises of the Santa Barbara Normal School at which Miss Pauline Ketcheson and Miss Irene Haddow both graduated. They returned last Saturday, leaving Mrs. Haddow and her daughter Irene to spend this coming week up north.

The News office received a visit from Mr. W. P. Trumbower yesterday, who is a property owner here, though his home is in Los Angeles. Mr. Trumbower is a great admirer of Upland's people and declares there is no lovelier driveway anywhere than that of Euclid avenue. He used to know this colony when the only way of going up to the head of the avenue was by the old mule-car, and considers the growth of Upland is wonderful.

It isn't only lovely hats of all kinds that you can buy at the Hat Shop, but hand-painted china and a wide choice in art needlework as well. A passing glance at the Hat Shop window always gives one a refreshing feeling with its dainty vases of flowers and ferns and such a pleasing variety of artistic work in the fancy articles and picturesque hats. The special display this year is exceptionally good, and a look at this issue's ad will tell you all about it.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Burkholder have received a telegram announcing the safe arrival of their daughter, Mrs. H. L. Smith, with her husband and two children in Boston from India, after an absence of five years. Mr. and Mrs. Smith have both been workers in the missionary field in India and will have many interesting experiences to relate. Mr. and Mrs. Burkholder are not expecting them just yet as a visit is being made first to Mr. Smith's people in Pennsylvania. In June though a happy reunion is looked forward to.

The Wahwahyaysee Camp Fire Girls, under the direction of their guardian, Miss Harwood, gave a little play last Sunday evening at the Congregational church, the chief idea being to represent the Americanization of the people with whom the missionaries come in contact. The girls who took part in the performance were Helen Chapin, Louise Jones, Lena Leahy, Hazel Rider, Geraldine Norton, Elizabeth Fredendall, Louise Dean, Madeline Fulton, Winifred Bost, Mildred Bost, Ruth Whitney and Marion Maurer.

A jolly party composed of Dr. R. F. Ruth, his sister Miss Elizabeth Ruth, their relatives Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Schowalter and son Edgar, who are visiting here from Kansas, Miss Anna Wilson and Miss Linda Schmidt, motored to Forest Home in the San Bernardino Mountains last Saturday. The snow was so heavy that the machine could not go within a mile of their destination, but the party walked some distance, leaving their car by the roadside, where several were already stalled in the snow. The weather and scenery were glorious and the whole day one of complete enjoyment. A luncheon was taken but every one found it too cold to eat in comfort and the meal was finished under easier conditions in Redlands.

Oliver Corey left yesterday to drive to Dinuba where his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Hostetler, have been staying for some months, and will return with them tomorrow. Mr. and Mrs. Hostetler left for a few days' visit with their sons but had scarcely arrived at Dinuba when they both caught cold and Mr. Hostetler had a very serious siege of the flu, which has left him in a very weakened condition. He is not by any means strong enough to drive home alone over the mountains, but is well enough to stand the journey if made under very comfortable conditions. Oliver is such a remarkably good driver that it is expected that both Mr. and Mrs. Hostetler who was also been ill while away, though not as seriously as her husband, will return to Upland all the better for the homeward trip.

O. K. Granger and T. R. DuVall were visitors to Catalina Island last Wednesday enjoying the trip, though the sea voyage was rather rough and dry land felt good when they touched it again.

R. O. Price was up from Long Beach Saturday greeting friends and neighbors here. Mr. Price is greatly improved and his many friends here are wishing for him his former health and vigor.

Mr. and Mrs. T. R. DuVall and their daughter Miss Florence DuVall who have been spending several months here visiting their son and brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde DuVall, on San Antonio Heights, left last Saturday for their home in Ripon, Wis. Miss Harriet Granger accompanied them as far as Chicago and continued her journey to New York and New Jersey where she will visit relatives this summer. Her plans may include a post-graduate nursing course at one of the New York hospitals but nothing definite had been settled when Miss Granger left.

STATE ADMINISTRATOR IN CONTROL OF POWER

All electric power distribution in California will be directed this year by H. G. Butler, state power administrator, the railroad commission ordered Wednesday following a meeting at which representatives of 90 power concerns in the state turned over to the commission complete operating reports of their system and agreed to give the commission complete authority.

Distribution in Central and Northern California was handled during the war by the state power administrator, but this is the first time Southern California concerns have turned control over to him.

For the first time also actual transmission of power from one end of the state to the other will be possible, as a 15-mile gap between the San Joaquin Light and Power Company and the Pacific Gas and Electric Company systems from Merced to Newman will be bridged by May 1, it was announced.

If the rainfall is normal from now on, the power shortage will be from 14 to 18 per cent, according to Butler. Central California will be required to buy from 25,000,000 to 35,000,000 kilowatt hours from Southern California to overcome the shortage. L. S. Ready, assistant chief engineer of the commission, stated.

CHURCHES

METHODIST NOTICES

A Personal Workers' Conference is being held in Crowell hall this evening at 6:30 o'clock. Each bring a basket lunch.

Passion Week services will be held in the church on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday evenings at 8. These meetings are open to the public and will be short but appropriate meetings leading up to Easter.

Easter will be In-gathering Day. All who desire may join the church. Opportunity will be given for the baptism of such adults and children as speak to the pastor in advance. This opportunity is for all. Strangers and new-comers are welcome.

ANNOUNCEMENT

A Passion Service will be held on Good Friday at the Bethany Union church at 7:30 p. m., to which every one is invited. The Rev. T. A. Klier who is with the Indians in Montana doing splendid missionary work will speak.

MENNONITE NOTES

Palm Sunday the worshippers were all pleasantly surprised by the beautiful church decorations of palm leaves and flowers. After the usual service, reception of new members by letter and the right hand of fellowship took place.

Tuesday night of this week is the Sunday School and officers meeting, at the Hornburg home on 8th avenue. At prayer meeting Wednesday night the subject will be: "The High Priestly Prayer of Jesus." John 17.

Thursday afternoon the ladies of the Missionary Society will be at the sanitarium, sewing and mending. A full turn-out and a busy time is expected.

Friday morning at 10 o'clock on Good Friday preparatory service for Easter will take place.

Friday night the choir will get ready for the Easter service.

Easter morning appropriate services and Holy Communion will be observed. Afternoon and evening, many of our people will go to Los Angeles to attend the Southern California Mennonite C. E. and Sunday School Convention. It begins Easter afternoon and ends Easter Monday night. A blessed time is anticipated.

This is "Holy Week," and we all want to be quiet for a little while sometimes and contemplate the sufferings and death of the Christ in our behalf. Quietly we want to gather with him on Calvary and then joyfully behold the empty tomb.

MAC'S TWO LITTLE SISTERS

A LECTURE ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE ENTITLED CHRISTIAN SCIENCE: A STUDY IN CAUSATION

By (Miss) MARY G. EWING, C. S. B., Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., delivered at Euclid Theatre, Ontario, Sunday Afternoon.

In my preparation for this lecture I have been wonderfully comforted and encouraged by some verses in the opening chapter of the book of Jeremiah. You may remember that there came to Jeremiah, through the word of the Lord, a clear, distinct revelation of his true origin and parentage, and of his own sanctification and dedication to the work of a prophet. And yet, as he perceived that this imposed upon him the preaching of the truth as to the spiritual origin and nature of man to a people blinded by materialism, he shrank from the task with a sense of his own weakness. In writing his simple record he makes a vivid picture of the conflict going on in his thought. He may have been young in years, but I have no sense that it was of this alone that he was thinking when he cried, "Ah, Lord God; behold, I cannot speak: for I am a child." And then the Lord answered him: "Say not, I am a child: for thou shalt go to all that I shall send thee, and whatsoever I command thee, thou shalt speak. Be not afraid of their faces: for I am with thee to deliver thee." (Jeremiah 1:6-8). And Jeremiah goes on to tell us that then the Lord put forth his hand and touched his mouth, and that the Lord said unto him, "Behold, I have put my words in thy mouth" (Jeremiah 1:9).

And now, knowing that to me has been given the same message, at least in essence, and realizing the urgent need of humanity today to be told the truth about life itself, I, in my turn, must trust to God to put into my mouth His words which shall touch your hearts and lead you to listen with unprejudiced thought to what I have to say to you; for truly, I come to you today with no "enticing words of man's wisdom," but with a message of healing born of deepest and tenderest experience. To bring to any of you who may feel that he is suffering from sorrow, disease, poverty, or sin, some measure of the knowledge of good which he can begin to use practically at this very moment, to lead him from this burden of suffering—this is my privilege, my hope, my confidence. There is healing—tender, compassionate healing—in the first right idea we gain of the true nature of good, and it is possible for you and for me to gain that right idea here and now.

I, myself, am a Christian Scientist today because many years ago, in a time of sorrow and fear, when my own dear father had been given up by physicians to die, he was quickly restored to health by Christian Science treatment. At the time that this miracle, this marvel, happened to us we had never heard the words "Christian" and "Science" coupled; indeed, we had more or less the world's sense that in some mysterious and fundamental way Christianity and science were opposite and irreconcilable. At the time of this healing we began to study the textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, and for all these years that book—the inspired revelation to the age of the true Science of Life—has been our comforting, enlightening and healing teacher and friend. It began at once to give us a new and true basis of thought; to educate us out of our petty, limited and selfish sense of life; to free us from fear of sickness and accident, poverty and misfortune; it emptied our well-filled medicine chest of all its drugs and tonics and plasters; it began to make us happier, healthier and more active and useful; it healed our sickness; in fine, it worked a revolution in our daily living, and the truth that we were learning spread from us to others and began to work the same miracle in other lives. During all the years that have elapsed since then, Christian Science has been our only physician, and the Christian Science textbook has been our daily guide and teacher. And I rejoice to be able truthfully to declare to you, as one proof of the inspired character of Science and Health, that this great work of Mary Baker Eddy is to me today, after these many years of reading and study more profoundly interesting and helpful than ever before, and that it constantly reveals new beauties and new treasures of meaning.

When the lawyer from among the group of Pharisees and Sadducees, harking back to the materialistic and mistaken sense of Judaism, asked Jesus (Matt. 22:36-40), "Master, which is the great commandment in the law?" our Master replied and began to love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind. This is the first and great commandment. And the second is like unto it, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. On these two commandments hang all the law and the prophets." This is a profound and entirely metaphysical teaching; a setting forth in concise and direct fashion of the fact underlying all manifestation of life; a presentation of the truth about God and man, the absolutely necessary fundamental knowledge upon which, as Jesus says so tersely, hang all the law and the prophets.

I accept wholeheartedly the definition of God which Mrs. Eddy gives in Science and Health (p. 465) in the chapter "Reconciliation." I also accept, unreservedly, her statement on the same page that these seven terms which she uses to define God, "Mind, Spirit, Soul, Principle, Life, Truth, Love," are synonymous; that is, that they so literally and absolutely mean the same thing that they are to be used the one in the place of the other. In order to have any adequate comprehension of this you must remember that Mrs. Eddy does not use these words in the ordinary accepted, superficial sense, but that their basic meaning has been ascertained and understood and is here presented. As one begins to use these terms interchangeably it gradually dawns upon his thought that each of them conveys to him, in some degree, the meaning associated with the others, and yet that all are necessary to gain a broad and vital knowledge of the creative power—a complete understanding of the profound significance of the word "God." When the individual accepts this definition of God as a basis of thought (and this is the real key to the Scriptures which Mrs. Eddy has fitted to the willing hand), there follows logically and inevitably a correct idea of the universe, including man, as the creation of God, a universe and a man expressing the power and might, the beauty and grandeur of an infinite intelligence which is good.

The great French lexicographer, Larousse, defines metaphysics as "knowledge of first causes and of first principles" (connaissance des causes premières et des premiers principes), and in this sense Christian Science is exact, accurate, demonstrable metaphysics. Mrs. Eddy gave its keynote when she wrote, "Spiritual causation is the one question to be considered" (Science and Health, p. 170). Christian Science is the supreme answer to the uttered and unuttered questioning of all time, which questioning Pilate voiced when he cried, "What is truth?" Mrs. Eddy gained her knowledge of Principle directly from the Bible and when, through reason and revelation corroborated by exact and scientific demonstration or proof, she had established her discovery of the cause of which she called metaphysics, she wrote her great textbook. It may be said of her, as Zacharias said of his son John: "Thou shalt go before the face of the Lord; for to make ready his way before him, to show the people the way of peace" (Luc. 1:76-77). I am quoting this from the Wycliffe translation, that first English version which, as one writer says, we owe to a faithful translation of the true nature of the Bible is a work of emancipation for the mind" (McAfee—The Greatest English Classic, p. 12).

Mrs. Eddy named her book through inspiration. It is an interesting fact that she was acquainted with this phrase "science and health" in the quaint and exact English of Wycliffe, and did not become acquainted with it until some six months after she had made her choice of title. Comparing this translation, "to show science and health to his people," with the corresponding expression in our King James Version, "to give knowledge of salvation unto the people," we become conscious of the intimate relationship in meaning between "health" and "salvation."

The Bible is not one book but many books—variously a collection of the masterpieces of a mighty literature; the outpouring of the heart and soul of a great people who, in spite of their lack of perception and through all their wanderings in the maze of materialism and material belief, still clung more closely than any other people to the idea of one God, one universal, ever present and ever potent Mind. Moses, their great leader, saw this so clearly that he labored the law and furnished the foundation for all modern law, and he caught beautiful, though fleeting, views of a more spiritual sense of Life and Love. Centuries later in fulfillment of prophecy and revelation came Jesus, that marvelous genius who understood and demonstrated the truth of being as no one else has yet done—Jesus, the loving Way-shower to humanity, to you and to me—who by his meekness and his might of his transcendent life, earned and won the unique distinction of the title Jesus, the Christ, "Jesus the God-crowned or the divinely royal man," as Mrs. Eddy says (Science and Health, p. 313).

Now the Bible is valuable to us only in proportion to our recognition of the right idea of God. The Bible was written through inspiration, reflection of intelligence; it can only be understood through inspiration, that same reflection of intelligence. The Bible is not only a history of ages of human experience, of a people, but it is a record and prophecy of the experience of each individual human consciousness in its putting off of the old man and its putting on of the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness (Ephesians 4:24). It is, indeed, in this aspect that it is most valuable to you and to me.

The merely mortal and material concept of the Bible can do nothing to uplift and heal mankind; but even a glimpse of the spiritual meaning of a single passage, such as the First Commandment, can and does illumine human experience with celestial light and begins at once to destroy the darkness of sin and sickness. If we are possible to have even a copy of the Bible wiped out of existence, there would still eventually be rewritten the substance of its message, for it is the outcome of experience, the epitome of the human struggle to find and follow Truth; it is the record of the demonstration of Love. Christian Science destroys cant and superstition and establishes the divine inspiration of Holy Writ, through absolute demonstration of its truth. I am shocked sometimes to realize how careless we still are of this priceless treasure. Do we, who know we love the Bible, read it with even the same attention and interest that we would give to a modern history? Take, for instance, the book of Deuteronomy, the orations and songs of Moses, his farewell to his people Israel; sit down quietly and read it from cover to cover at one sitting and then seek the opportunity to review it before the first firm impression of its wonder and vigor is dulled. Holding in thought constantly, as you should now be doing, this fundamental right idea of good as the only source or origin of life and action, you cannot fail to be inspired by the point of understanding the treasures of spiritual counsel and comfort which Moses shared with the children of Israel then and which we, as children of Israel (as the offspring of Spirit) share today.

Today, as in all the ages of history, the cry of men is for life, for love, for health, for freedom from the bondage to evil, for the coming of that day, which St. John so wonderfully describes, when "God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying" (Rev. 21:4). It is the sweet and simple demonstrable knowledge of God which brings human consciousness the dawning light of this great day. Since we have had revealed to us some measure of this knowledge, can you wonder that we long to share with the world the treasure which has brought peace and joy into our own lives?

The fundamental truth of Christian Science is the fact about causation, that good, Mind, Spirit, is the only active, operative intelligence, or creative energy. From this it follows logically and inevitably that the universe, including man, the product of this intelligence, is spiritual. Once accept this basic teaching and you are compelled to admit its correlative, the unreality, the impotence, the falsity and the materiality of evil and matter. The creative power of Mind, of good—the Fatherhood and Motherhood of God—is the primal fact of existence; the relationship between the creator and His creation between parent and child, is unchanging and indissoluble.

Now, do not misunderstand me. I in no way wish to minimize or ignore what the world calls evil; I have no disposition to spread any amount of charity over ignorance, inertia, discord, sickness, strife, or to cry, "Peace, peace; when there is no peace." It is undoubtedly necessary today to understand what is called evil, to deal with it radically and unflinchingly, but as we may maintain that in material method has ever been or ever will be devised which will so deal with the woes of the world, Christian Science does not deal with evil in this way.

It is not by the willingness to submit our false sense of personal good to the will of intelligence—by humble, loving, heartfelt prayer. Jesus once said, "If two of you shall agree on earth as touching any thing that they shall ask, it shall be done for them in my Father which is in heaven" (Matt. 18:19); but how sadly has his meaning been perverted when it is possible for men to believe that there is virtue in the concerted repetition of certain phrases or words, or that the so-called mechanical repetition of statements in fine phrases, even though those statements in themselves be true; no, not in this way, but by the willingness to submit our false sense of personal good to the will of intelligence—by humble, loving, heartfelt prayer. Jesus once said, "If two of you shall agree on earth as touching any thing that they shall ask, it shall be done for them in my Father which is in heaven" (Matt. 18:19); but how sadly has his meaning been perverted when it is possible for men to believe that there is virtue in the concerted repetition of certain phrases or words, or that the so-called mechanical repetition of statements in fine phrases, even though those statements in themselves be true; no, not in this way, but by the willingness to submit our false sense of personal good to the will of intelligence—by humble, loving, heartfelt prayer.

Christian Science has not come to bring peace to material beliefs, but a sword; it has come to give us such a sense of the majesty and grandeur of Principle as will endow us with the courage to battle manfully against the false domination of the carnal mind. Our daily and unceasing prayer should be for that cleansing of ourselves from secret faults, for that fidelity as well as virtue which marks the man after God's own heart. Prayer in its best sense is truly a communion with God, with intelligence, a quiet and deep recognition of Love's presence and protecting care—the desire and the effort to use the gifts which good bestows and the consequent denial and rejection of every mortal fault and weakness. Its potency is expressed in right activity. Submission from evil can only come through a knowledge of good—a knowledge of good so clear and certain that one applies it unhesitatingly to human affairs and proves its efficacy in destroying the appearance of evil.

"Prayer is the Christian's vital breath. He enters heavy with prayer." —James Montgomery.

Never, I believe, in all human history was there spread before the assembled nations—as in an open book—such an explanation and astounding revelation of the false nature of evil as is presented in the present crisis in the world's affairs. Nor has there ever been such a rallying to the standard upheld by a more spiritual idea of life and government. We are living in a time of marvelous opportunity, when as Mrs. Eddy says (Science and Health, p. 83), "Science only can explain the incredible good and evil elements now coming to the surface." We are involved in the greatest struggle for liberty that humanity has ever known—called upon to stand in the very front rank of battle by the side of our splendid allies, to represent a more spiritual sense of good, of life and government, in opposing the aggregate of the mortal belief in a power apart from good. We are under orders. Let us arise in the might of a right idea and stand, each in his own place, filled with faith and courage by the power of divine Love, and with the wish and will to sacrifice our sense of self, for the good of all, let us uphold the standard of freedom. Right alone makes might; there is no love without intelligence and no intelligence except in the infinite, all-wise Love, that ever present divine basis of government, to which belong all honor and justice, integrity and liberty.

Behold, here is the parting of the ways, and we who have named the name of Christ—that is, have acknowledged the nature, the character of Truth—are left no choice in the matter; we must walk the straight and narrow path of loyalty and duty. Today we are indeed being weighed in the great balance of wisdom and Love. May we as a nation not be found wanting, but, on the contrary, be found with a deep and rich and growing affection for the things of the Spirit, with the capacity and power and will to uphold Principle in every department of life. Do not forget that your "eyes have seen the glory of the coming of the Lord," and that today and here, "He is sounding forth the trumpet that shall never call retreat; He is sifting out the hearts of men before his judgment seat; Oh! be swift, my soul, to answer Him; be jubilant, my feet! Our God is marching on." —Julia Ward Howe.

The true brotherhood of man, real democracy—these are ideas of Mind which are to be understood and demonstrated, and for this reason Christian Science undoubtedly affords the only consistent and permanent solution of the problems of labor and capital, of temperance and social reform, of the equal rights and responsibilities of men and women, of civil, religious, and racial liberty. The liberator is Love and Love alone, but not a weak and erring sensual affection that selfishly condones or ignores the claim of evil. That alone is worthy the name of Love that is identified with Principle—that is keen and searching and unflinching in its detection of wrong, and unswerving in its demand upon the individual to separate himself from evil and walk uprightly. The sacrifice of false sense, of wayward will, of lust for power and glory is demanded repeatedly by Love; but in reward for obedience to this demand, Love bestows the crowning reward of sonship in the kingdom of God. This is the proof of the healing efficacy of Christian Science, and it is applicable to every detail of human experience in the life of the individual and of the nation.

We can never show too grateful a love, too humble an appreciation of the demands we are led to reject, to seek and to gain this great gift of knowledge, and to pour it, a veritable balm, into the hearts of a waiting world. In the beginning and end to beg and beseech, with tears running down her cheeks, to be permitted to help the afflicted out of their sufferings, but today the warm and pulsating affection of tens of thousands of those resurrected from and disease bears witness to her magnificent achievement. We love and reverence her for her purity and devotion to good, for her self-abnegation and her generous and loving sacrifice for the welfare of the world, for the keeness of her vision and her intuitive grasp of the deep things of Mind. We pay her homage and acknowledge her absolutely unique place in the world's history as the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, and we heed both the spirit and the letter of her earnest admonition, "Follow your Leader only so far as she follows Christ" (Message for 1901, p. 32).

Do you realize what a marvel it is to human sense that today, in the very throes of the struggle against the powers of darkness and tyranny of materialism, in hamlets and villages, in great cities and in far countries, in great army camps and along far-flung battle lines, in the secret counsels of hundreds of thousands of individual hearts all round the globe, there is being repeated in the inspired words of our Beloved Leader a clear, succinct, inspired statement of demonstrable and demonstrated knowledge of what life actually is. The courage and the joy of it is beyond belief; it rings in our ears with an uncertain tone and finds its echo in our hearts.

The scientific statement of being (Science and Health, p. 468) is a trumpet call of truth which rallies to its support the thinking men and women of the age—those worn and weary with the bondage of material sense and the wandering in the desert of mortal hopes and fears. The advancing hosts today follow its clarion note on, on into the promised land.

In a gathering such as this, one recognizes the impulse of that "hunger and thirst after righteousness" which today urges the world of humanity to seek to understand the Infinite Love, the divine intelligence which created and sustains the universe and man. Since God, good, is our Father and Mother, our true Fatherland and Motherland, the kingdom of heaven, that land of promise which Moses so beautifully pictured to the children of Israel, in words that are figuratively and literally true, he wrote: "For the Lord thy God bringeth thee into a good land, a land of brooks of water, of fountains and depth that spring out of valleys and hills; a land of wheat, and barley, and vines, and fig trees, and pomegranates; a land of olive oil and honey; a land where in thou shalt eat bread without scarceness, thou shalt not lack any thing of it; a land whose stones are iron, and out of whose hills thou mayest dig brass. When thou hast eaten and art full, then thou shalt bless the Lord thy God for the good land which He hath given thee" (Deuteronomy 8:7-10). This fair land, metaphysically understood, is the universe of Mind's creating the secret place of the Most High—a present fact, not a future possibility, and Mrs. Eddy says that "of this kingdom there shall be no end; for Christ, God's idea, will eventually rule all nations and peoples—imperfectly, absolutely, finally—with divine Science" (Science and Health, p. 565).

ONTARIO MAN NAMED ON HONOR ROLL OF NAVY
G. E. Norwood, apprentice seaman, U. S. N., who enlisted at the U. S. Navy recruiting station, Third and E street, San Bernardino, and whose home address is 1054 West Main street, Ontario, has been named in the honor roll of the United States Navy Training Station, San Francisco, as being one of the 32 men (out of several thousand) who have made the most progress in instruction, personal appearance and attention to duty. Norwood is considered one of the most efficient men now at the training station, and can justly be proud of the distinction of being named on the honor roll in competition with hundreds of men.

SIDEWALK IS THEIR MARKET

Where All Sorts of Goods Are Disposed of by New York's
"Down and Out."

At the Bowery approach to the Willamsburg bridge may be witnessed an interesting sight at any hour of the day, says the New York Times. This is the gathering of near down-and-outs disposing of what is left of their wardrobe, and who, being poor salesmen, usually take what is offered and not what they expected to get.

The other morning there were four on hand. One had three frayed silk shirts, two pairs of more or less worn trousers and three sets of silk underwear. He asked 50 cents each for the shirts and took $1 for the three. The trousers brought 75 cents each, the pair, while he had much trouble in disposing of the silk underclothing at 25 cents a garment.

Another had a fur-lined coat which wasn't so very awful looking. He tried his best to get $5 for it and held on for nearly an hour. Finally a mortician came along and, after digging in every crevice of his pockets, produced $4.78. This won the coat.

A ragged fellow had three razors for which he asked $1 each. A big fellow with wiry whiskers wanted a razor but wasn't willing to pay the price. He offered 45 cents, then 50. He bought for 60.

This "market" is held in the open, on the sidewalk, and the police do not appear to care, for there is never any interference.

GEORGE HAD ANOTHER GUESS

Old Gentleman Had Also Been Doing
Some Thinking About the High Cost of Living.

A congressman who is investigating the high cost of living said to a Washington correspondent:

"The h. c. l. is responsible for many vagaries and queer complications.

"A young chap who had got engaged to a girl was talking over the future with her.

"With prices what they are," said the girl, "we must be content, George, dear, with a small flat and one or, at the most, two servants."

"George coughed.

"It's my idea," he said, "to live with your old man the first couple of years."

"But, George—

"That's my idea," he interrupted.
Think of the money we can save. No rent, no light, no grub bills, no coal."

"But—

"I insist on this thing," George interrupted again. "I tell you, I—

"Then the door opened softly and the girl's father entered the room.

"Children," he said tenderly, "I have decided that when you get married I'll come and live with you for the rest of my life."

Salmon Saved Queen.

The salmon with a ring in its mouth, that figures in the arms of the city of Glasgow, Scotland, which are also those of the ancient sea, is said to record a miracle of St. Kentigern, the founder of the see, and the fourth bishop of Glasgow. A certain queen gave a soldier, with whom she had fallen in love, a ring that had been presented to her by her consort; but the king discovered the intrigue, and, having obtained the ring, threw it into the Clyde, and then demanded it of his disloyal lady.

In her alarm she sought help from St. Kentigern, and he, proceeding to the river, forthwith caught a salmon, which, on being opened, was found to have swallowed the all-important jewel. The queen regained the good graces of the king, and lived a better life afterward.

Believed Victims of Indians.

Three skeletons, believed to be those of early American settlers were unearthed at Kennebunkport, Me., by workmen leveling some land near an old fort erected during the war of 1812. Two apparently were victims of Indian massacres or wars. Embedded in the skull of one of the skeletons was an Indian arrow. The tip of the skull of the second was chipped off cleanly, as if done by a tomahawk held in a well-trained hand. The third skeleton was that of a man seven feet tall. It is believed that the bodies were buried in an old cemetery on this spot, and that the graves were covered over by earth thrown up when the fort excavations were being made.

Billions of Pine and Needles.

Fourteen billion ordinary toilet pins are produced by American factories annually. American mothers also find it necessary to purchase 720,000,000 safety pins every year.

The yearly crop of metal hairpins is a billion and a quarter.

Needles of all kinds aggregate 235, 000,000 every 12 months. The value of this pin and needle crop is $13, 000,000 at the factory. Forty-nine factories are engaged in the manufacture of the articles, the total capitalization being $9,424,000.

In 1850 there were only four pin factories in the United States, having a combined capital of $164,000 and a combined annual product of 297,550 pins. It will thus be seen that the growth of this industry is something tremendous.

Prize-Fighter Congressman.

The report that Carpentier, the prize fighter, is ambitious to become a member of the French parliament, recalls the election of John Morrissey to congress on November 5, 1897, from the "Bloody Sixth" ward of New York city, says the Springfield Republican.

Morrissey's famous fight, in which he defeated Heenan, took place October 23, 1858, in the no-man's land adjoining Boston Corners in Berkshire county, afterward conceded to New York by Massachusetts. The pugilist had a long record of indictments for assault and burglary and had served nine months in the penitentiary for the breaches of the peace. He served his district in congress satisfactorily enough to be re-elected.

WEALTH FLOWING INTO CUBA

Crops of Cotton and Sugar Will Net People of Island Some $2,000,000,000.

Cuba's coming sugar crop is expected to yield about 4,000,000 tons—a record output. At prices which the planters are counting upon receiving for their sugar this will mean a payment to them of from about $750,000,000 to $800,000,000. Bear in mind that this is for one crop raised on an island of only 45,836 square miles and with a population of about 2,500,000.

In the cotton-growing sections of the South there are approximately about 25,000,000 people. The center of interest in Cuba is sugar, in about the same degree that cotton concentrates the interest of the South. When the cotton crop first reached the value of $2,000,000,000 a year, the world held up its hands in amazement, yet this $2,000,000,000 is distributed directly or indirectly among 25, 000,000 people. In Cuba more than a third of that amount will be distributed directly or indirectly among 2,500,000 people. Every dollar of this vast sum is paid into Cuba from other countries. It is as though the entire world production of gold for two years and more were dumped into Cuba, as measured by the world's production of gold and the Cuban sugar crop value.

NO CHANGE IN HUMAN BONES

Construction of Shoulder Blades Today
the Same as Those of Sixty Centuries Ago.

There has been no discernible change in the shoulder blade of man in the last 6,000 years, according to Dr. William W. Graves of St. Louis, who spoke before the meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Shoulder blades of Egyptian mummies, 6,000 years old, and those of Illinois river Indians, believed to be about the same age, are the same as those of the present-day men, according to Doctor Graves.

In July and August of last year Doctor Graves measured 1,500 shoulder blades of men and animals, endeavoring to classify the differences in them.
The vertebral borders, with which he was particularly concerned, are the same in humans as in gorillas, chimpanzees and also in lower monkeys.

Concerning the skeletons of Illinois river Indians, which he said appear to be between 4,000 and 6,000 years old, he was asked if he considered that proof that this continent was inhabited then by humans whose physical type was as high as that of the Egyptians of that day. He said that he could not draw such a conclusion, although the shoulder blades are of the same type.

Fairy Baskets.

Fairy baskets are made of large hazel nuts, filberts or peach pits. Filberts must be soaked in hot water for several hours. Hazel nuts and peach pits may be used green. With a sharp, fine pointed penknife bore through the filbert or hazel nut on each side in the light colored upper third, cut away the shell carefully around the hole as to leave a handle between the incisions, dig out the meat that is inside, then cut very tiny notches in the lower edge. If you use peach pits trim off the sharp point, then bore and cut out the shell and trim the stalk end smooth.

Those baskets are a never failing pleasure to both children and grown-ups. One use to which you can put the fairy baskets is loop a dozen or more upon a strand of silk floss, fill each one with earth and supply it with a single fine grass seed, then hang them in a sunny window and keep moist.

Ancient Grains Do Not Germinate.

The United States department of agriculture gives a hard knock to the stories about the germination of wheat and other cereals found wrapped up with ancient Egyptian mummies. It says that close investigation proves all such reports to be fictitious.
French tests show that grain more than a few years old will not germinate. Tests indicate that when seeds are kept under ideal conditions, wheat, barley and oats may germinate up to eight or ten years, but few if any grains are alive after 20 years.

Too Beautiful.

A man and his wife went to one of the most beautiful islands in the Caribbean sea seven years ago to spend the twilight of their lives in the serene beauty of the tropics. It was a place which the husband, a seafaring man, had chosen as the nearest approach to terrestrial paradise for those who have enough money to live without working hard.

The couple landed in New York the other day with their laws and penates and a parrot. The ideal scene is just about to begin in the Caribbean, but it will start and continue without this particular pair of humans. "We want an old-fashioned New England winter," said the wife. The husband was more specific. "It was great for a while, but finally it got too doddered beautiful. We are going back to Connecticut to see some rocks and barren fields."—New York Sun.

Siberian Y. W. C. A.

Over in Siberia a staff of Y. W. C. A. workers are slowly but surely making headway in organizing an association and interesting girls in the various activities planned for their benefit. Overcoming the mountains of difficulties which arise from the abnormal educational and social situation in Vladivostok has been a problem to be approached slowly and with eyes open.

The workers report finding a few people interested in the things which have to do with girls and with whatever information they have gathered they are carefully developing their activities. There are sewing classes and one of the workers is conducting classes in spelling and letter writing.

MISSOURIANS ARE CALLED FOR GREAT REUNION

All who ever lived in that state are cordially invited by the Long Beach Missourians to meet for a great picnic reunion, all day, Saturday, May 8th, 1920, in Bixby Park, Long Beach.

Come early as you can and spend the day with friends. There are 40,000 of us here in this Southland.

We will have county registers and headquarters so you can find the old neighbors even with ten thousand present.

There will be a splendid program, opening about two o'clock, but the main purpose will be to have a good time with the old home state folks. Tourists and visitors are specially invited as well as residents, for we want to make this the greatest picnic in our history.

Bring your basket well filled and share with friends. Coffee will be served free to all who buy badges.

Prizes will be given to the oldest man and oldest woman, natives of Missouri. Also to the one who lived longest in that state. Others will be announced later.

Each one who learns of this picnic is asked to pass the word along.

Further information may be had of C. H. Parsons, Secretary of the Federation of State Societies, Continental Bank, Main street at 9th, Los Angeles, phone 10261, where our Missouri registers are kept on file and all may see them.

DESERT MOTHER HITS NEW TRAIL

"Mother" Preston, famous character of Death Valley and the desert for forty years, one-time political dictator of frontier days, is going back to her native land, France. For years, since the Mojave desert has ceased to be a frontier, she has been lonely and uneasy under modern day regulations.

When Calico, the most famous of the "ghost cities" of the Mojave, was born, "Mother" Preston was there, and as the owner of the most popular saloon in the boom town, she became a power in the camp. She became more widely known than any man of the region. When Calico ceased to throb as the price of silver dropped back in the seventies, and then dwindled to nothing, "Mother" Preston moved to Daggett. In the railroad construction days she operated a general store and repeated again at Ludlow when the Tonopah and Tidewater was built along the rim of Death Valley.

"Mother" Preston amassed a fortune. How rich she is no one knows. Few men came out of the desert with greater fortunes than she accumulated, but she still continued her strange life. For years she clad herself as a man and stick-shooters hung from her hip in the frontier days.

When the prohibition wave reached the desert she did not understand the new ways of the world, but she closed up her saloon and refused to become a law violator.

When France, her native land, was struggling in the war with Germany she sent an outright gift of $25,000 in gold. Then when her adopted country, the United States, became an ally of France she invested $30,000 in Liberty Bonds and was reported to have bought heavily in the Victory Bonds to celebrate victory.

"Mother" Preston last week sold her general store at Ludlow to her rival, Tom Murphy, and the ancient feud of Ludlow ended.

Preparations are under way for a great farewell party to "Mother" Preston. Miners and prospectors whom she had befriended back thru the years will ride for many miles to say goodbye. She says it will be only a visit to France; that some day she will come back to America.

POMONA COLLEGE GRANTS HIGH SCHOOL CERTIFICATES

By unanimous vote of the State Board of Education, Pomona College is granted the same right as the State University to certify its graduates to the State Board of Education for High School Certificates in California. For several years Pomona College has been developing the work in education looking to ultimately securing this privilege. At the present time it is actually giving all the work in education required, excepting the Practice Teaching.

The newly created School of Education was recognized by the State Board on account of the unusually high standard maintained in all phases of its academic work. The serious shortage of teachers has brought pressure from all sides upon the college to establish such a school of education. This action of the State Board gives the right to certify for High School Certificates those who complete at Pomona a prescribed year of graduate work which complies with the provisions of the state law.

The accrediting of the college carries with it also the right of Pomona graduates to Elementary Certificates, if they have taken twelve hours of work in the Department of Education and have received the institution's recommendation.

CONFERENCE FOR THE LIBRARY NEEDS OF THE NATION

State and local library needs are being considered at conferences of library trustees now being held throughout the country by the American Library Association, which is conducting a $2,000,000 "Books for Everybody" movement on a nationwide basis. The money is being raised through the individual efforts of librarians, library trustees and friends of libraries without resorting to an intensive drive or campaign. Five library trustees have been named to attend the conferences by the governors of each state. Hundreds of other trustees are attending the meetings.

A successful conference of the trustees from the Southwestern states was held at Charleston, S. C., March 15 and 16. The North Central conference takes place at St. Paul March 19 and 20. The South Central gathering is scheduled for March 25 at Kansas City and that for the Southwest in Dallas on the same date. The Pacific Coast meetings take place at San Francisco from March 31 to April 3 and at Los Angeles from April 4 to 7.

The New England, Middle Atlantic, Middle Southern and the Central states will hold conferences in the immediate future. The response to the conference invitation has greatly exceeded the expectations of the Association officers. This is taken as a deep and widespread interest in the movement which has for its chief aims self-education and Americanization through the nation's library facilities.

Here's a new item with a familiar smell: A housewife at Pasadena forgot to turn out the gas under a roast she had on the stove, when she went down town, and the burning roast filled the house with smoke and called the fire department.
